Organized by

The 6th International INSECTA® 2021 Conference will take place on September 8 - 9, 2021 in Magdeburg, Germany.

The conference aims to give an overview of the state-of-the-art of insect technology for scientists, representatives of related industries, policy makers, media and consumers. The 6th INSECTA® 2021 conference will once again provide ample opportunities for a lively exchange on insects as food, feed and non-food. It is joint organized by Pilot Pflanzenöltechnologie Magdeburg e.V. (PPM) and Leibniz Institute for Agricultural Engineering and Bioeconomy (ATB). Insect welfare and insect health will be introduced as new topics at INSECTA® 2021.

The INSECTA® conference in addition to the venue in Magdeburg will be online for presenters, participants and sponsors.

This conference will offer an opportunity to present your business on an international platform:

- Introduce your brand to players of the future protein market
- Demonstrate your position as a thought leader in this rapidly evolving market
- Meet & influence decision-makers

Innovators and participating experts make this event an ideal platform for communication. INSECTA® 2021 gives you access to unique players:

- Thought leaders of the Food, Feed and Non-Food sector
- Managers on executive level
- Leading scientists in food technology and insect biotechnology
